Yellow Fever Situation.

New Orleans, Oct. 16.—The frosts of the latter part of last week have done much toward relieving the fever situation. Quarantines are being lifted all over the states of Louisiana and Mississippi, and in the latter state the rescinding of the order prohibiting passenger traffic between all other towns, whether infected or not, is hailed with joy both by the public and the railroads. The order went into effect today, and a number of trains throughout the state which had been discontinued were resumed.

All the advice received today have been of a favorable nature, and before the end of the month it looks as if all quarantines would be raised. The cold weather had the effect of checking the spread of the disease, and people are beginning to reason again.

The action of President Souchon of the state board of health in shutting out the Italian immigrants from Louisiana is being generally criticized. Several officials of the marine hospital service, in discussing the matter this afternoon, said they did not see how the health authorities had the right to shut out any one class of people, people who came from an uninfected country and through an uninfected American port, while New York and Chicago men were being welcomed every day.

President Souchon has stated that he will admit immigrants to the state on and after November 25. Before that time he will have several damage suits on his hands. The New Orleans and Northeastern railroad has its mind made to bring suit and several prominent Italian merchants declared that they intended to sue. The law at present, however, is not making any provisions for feeding the immigrants, who are, according to the best advice, still at Bay St. Louis, and being fed by the Louisville and Nashville railroad. These are the immigrants who came through New York. The Britannia lot and the 1600 on the Bolivia are still aboard their ships. The Bolivia is expected at quarantine tomorrow or next day. She will not be allowed to land.

MARINE HOSPITAL REPORT.

Washington, Oct. 16.—The marine hospital service tonight received the following reports from the yellow fever district:

Franklin, La.—New cases 22, no deaths; Ridge land, Miss., new cases 7; Hattiesburg, new cases 5; Oxford, new cases 2; Natchez, new cases 3; Queen Hill, new cases 1, deaths 1; Taylors, new cases 1; Jackson, new cases 7.

A Ghost Story.

New York, Oct. 16.—Two inmates of the Trenton jail were made insane by ghostly visitors. The jailers ridiculed them, but they insisted on their ghost story, and finally were driven insane.

Are at Work.

Messrs. Seale and Carroll have commenced work on their log contract at Pickering, La., and are advertising for men in our want columns today. Mr. Carroll is at Pickering but Mr. Seale is in the city today.

Early Morning Runaway.

The team attached to the Star Bakery wagon ran away this morning about half past five with the result that one of the horses was so badly injured that it may have to be killed. The driver had just stepped into Goodman's restaurant when the team started to run. They went down the railroad track to the East Texas bottling works and in turning south they ran into the deep ditch along the side of the street. When the driver got there one of the horses, a big bay mare, was in the bottom of the narrow ditch with the other horse on top. They were pulled out of the ditch, but the mare was so badly hurt she could not get up.

Renewal of the War.

Washington, Oct. 16.—There is a possibility, I may even say there is a probability, of hostilities being renewed if the newspapers reflect accurately the attitude of the Spanish commissioners in Paris. I am inclined to doubt the news for the sole reason, however, that I do not think Spain will be afflicted with political insanity again.

This is a part of an interview given this evening by a close, perhaps the closest, friend of the president now in the city. "But if there be war, it will be a much shorter struggle than the one we thought we had just finished. The dispatches, as I read them, in nearly all the newspapers indicate that Spain is purposely misconstruing the protocol. If she thinks that the United States has not reserved in the protocol to dispose of the Philippines, Spain being a party to the disposal, then she is mistaken and the United States cannot yield that point. If Spain will not yield, there is no other way out of it than that diplomatic relations, such as they are, be broken off and that this government resume and finish the war by dictating the terms at Madrid.

"I am not an alarmist, but I am confident that there can be only one kind of arbitration of this matter: if the peace commission dissolve, that of war.

"I am inclined to believe, in the absence of official news today, that the Philippine question has been discussed informally and that the Spanish view has been found to be impracticable.

"I do not regard the latest Cuban question as one of great importance. The Spaniards are merely claiming too much. Their contention is more amusing than serious. Their position that they are entitled to move munitions of war other than those which this government will allow is absurd. Total surrender and claimed several things, only some of which were allowed.

"As to Blanco, we fought the Spanish army in Cuba on Spanish soil, and a construction, by no means technical, of the protocol is that Blanco and his army have surrendered. He must leave behind him everything that can be classed as fixtures. He can no more remove heavy ordnance, or ordnance stores than he can carry away Morro castle or the Havana arsenal.

"It will be noted that the Spaniards in Cuba merely say they will do certain things. A part of the American Army will go to Cuba. The property which the Spanish claim is either their property or ours. Perhaps the question will not be settled until our army arrives. It will certainly be settled definitely then."

To Feed the Hungry.

The committee who have charge of the preparations to feed the people at the barbecue are going at it in the proper manner, and no doubt there will be enough for all. Saturday the committee placed an order with the Star bakery for 2400 loaves of bread, which ought to feed 5000 people.

Runaway No. 2.

This morning about 11:30 a horse attached to one of the ice wagons became frightened while being driven down Calder avenue and ran away leaving the driver and ice on the ground after a couple of jumps. The horse came down Calder to Main, then down Main to Carroll's corner when he took another turn and went out Crockett where he collided with Will Keith's buggy, damaging it enough to send it to the shop. The ice wagon being a light structure soon went to pieces, only one piece of the wagon was broken and that was the coupling pole. The other part was soon picked up, and the horse made to assume his usual station in life.

New Church Building.

Rev. J. W. Bleker yesterday morning stated to his congregation that the amount necessary to build St. Mark's Episcopal church had been secured. Through the generosity of the members of the congregation and the community at large, sufficient money has been subscribed to build the church without a debt. After this announcement the entire congregation arose and sang, "Gloria in Excelsis."

New Orleans Fever Report.

The New Orleans dailies have put in a flat denial to the report in these columns that a Crowley business man had been informed by a New Orleans merchant that the papers were withholding yellow fever news under stress of losing patronage. One or two of these dailies are, without the slightest effort to ascertain the source from whence the report emanated in New Orleans, unnecessarily severe in their attack upon the press, who so is indiscreet (?) as to come home and repeat that which was told him in the city, and by a business man whose veracity he had no reason to doubt.

Our informant says he was told that the heavier advertisers of New Orleans had, either in person or through representatives, gone to the dailies and notified them that if the fever news was handled in the sensational manner of last year they would withdraw their support. Whether or not the papers had signed any agreement, he is not positive, but is under the impression he was so informed. His source of information was a manufacturer's agent on Bienville street, not a stone's throw from Charters street, whose name is on file in this office.

The report may be without foundation—we trust such is the case; we dislike to entertain any other view of the press of New Orleans, but here is a wide difference between this season and last in the prominence given the fever news. Instead of the glaring first page head lines to attract attention, we find in some remote portion of the paper the "official" report, given without comment. This fact followed up with the receipt of letters by citizens here from residents of New Orleans, saying that the report are incorrect and not nearly all the cases were reported, has naturally aroused the suspicion of many.

If the "country parishes" have an exaggerated idea of the extent of fever in New Orleans, the citizens of that city are largely themselves to blame.—Crowley Signal.

A Hopeful View.

Dr. Blunt, state health officer, was in the city this morning and was very happy because of the cold north wind and because the aforesaid cold wave had arrived and no yellow fever had appeared in Texas on account of the timely quarantine precautions. Dr. Blunt said that the present cold wave would check the fever and that all danger would soon be over. Regarding the quarantine at Orange Dr. Blunt said that no trains would be admitted from Louisiana for a few days. While Dr. Blunt did not say so, we feel quite certain that he is not so very much displeased at the action of the people of Orange, for while he thinks there would have been no danger, he fully appreciates the motives that actuated the people there.
